

January 12 ,2022

Dear Sirs and Madams,

We hereby attached the application guidelines for the October 2022 Admission and April 2023 Admission Global Engineering Program for Research and Development (GEP for R&D) of the Graduate School of Engineering at the University of Fukui. The GEP for R&D, which is a three-year Doctoral Course, provides an opportunity for international students to study various fields of engineering in English. We would appreciate very much that you announce this to students in your institute.

Please note the applicants must be non-Japanese nationals residing outside Japan and the status will be privately funded students. However, the Graduate School of Engineering provides a financial aid to some students to support their tuition payment.

Also kindly note that all the complete forms for October 2022 Admission shall be in our hands by April 20, 2022, and for April 2023 Admission by October 19, 2022.
